D. C. STANDS HIGH IN FEDERAL TAXES

Exceeds 31 States in Returns From Incomes and 15 From Corporations.

IS EQUAL TO FOUR IN BOTH

Claim of the District of Columbia to consideration at the hands of Congress in the matter of taxes is emphasized by figures just made public showing that the corporation tax for the National Capital for the last fiscal year was $579,311.46, and the individual income taxes for the same period reached the total of $1,186,133.33.

The corporation tax paid in the District of Columbia exceeded that of Florida, Alabama, Idaho, Vermont, Wyoming, Nevada, South Dakota, South Carolina, Oregon, North Dakota, New Mexico, New Hampshire, Mississippi, Arkansas or Alaska for the same period.

In the matter of individual income taxes the District total was in excess of that of Arizona, Alabama, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Montana, New Mexico, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota, New Hampshire, North Carolina, South Carolina, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming or Alaska.

As much as four combined. A still more striking idea of the District's income tax is given by adding the total collected from individuals in four southern states—Alabama, Virginia, South Carolina and Mississippi—the sum being more than $80,000 under that collected in this city.

From time to time certain members of Congress have not hesitated to charge the people of the District of Columbia with desiring to put too heavy a burden on the national government. To this accusation frequent reply has been made that the people of the District were always willing to bear their just and equitable proportion of the burden, and their taxes have been increased until it often requires the services of an expert to make out one of the newer corporation and income tax schedules.

This city makes a most creditable showing in the matter of tax returns, in spite of the fact that it is not the home of large corporations, with the exception of the public utilities, and a few financial and mercantile houses. In fact, there are probably fewer corporations doing business in Washington than in any other city of its size, it being distinctively a government city, with a working population made up largely of government employees.

INTO WINTER QUARTERS.

Most of Pleasure Craft Leave Water by End of Month.

Though some few of the pleasure craft will be kept in service until the coming of ice making weather, most of them will be taken into winter quarters before the end of this month. Those that will be kept in service will be used by their owners for hunting trips to the lower Potomac, that is, they will take their owners to points where ducks and geese are to be found, but as the law forbids the shooting of game from power propelled craft, small boats will be used for the actual hunting of the birds.

OYSTER CRAFT IN CONTEST.

Schooner Thomas W. Kirby Seeks Honor of Landing First Cargo.

To land oysters for this market, the schooner Thomas W. Kirby has left for oyster beds in the vicinity of Blakely Island. The Kirby, since the opening of the watermelon season about a month ago, has made several trips from the lower river to this city with melons. Yesterday her master announced that he was going to the oyster-taking grounds, will put his vessel in trim for oyster running and will endeavor to be the first oyster craft to reach here this season.

Other vessel masters have announced they will bring the first cargo, and oystermen at the wharf are interestedly waiting to see which master will be successful.

The oyster-taking season on the Potomac opens September 15 for the tongers, and a month later for the dredge boats.

Chile's tillable soil is held by 7 per cent of the population.

JAPAN READY TO GIVE AND WITHOUT CONDITIONS

Mission Now Here Eager to Decide How Best to Co-Operate for Far East Development.

When conferences between Viscount Ishii and Secretary Lansing are resumed tomorrow neither the question of steel exports for Japan's shipbuilding industries nor the disposition of the former German possessions in China and in the Pacific will be discussed.

This was made clear yesterday, as was also the fact that in planning for her more extended aid in the war Japan will not demand a condition precedent. The steel question, it was learned, was taken up before Viscount Ishii came to America and it will continue to be handled through the embassy here.

Reserved for Peace Conference.

Regarding her possession of Kinchow, Japan takes the position that the subject is not one for discussion with the United States, but should properly be a topic for the peace conference. What ever claims Japan may have in China arising out of the war also are considered not proper subjects for discussion until the war has been ended. This also applies to the German islands in the Pacific now held by the Japanese.

Needs Peaceful Conditions.

Japan considers it a prime necessity for her as well as the United States, to have peaceful conditions in China not only to enhance China's value as an ally at this time, but also for the future peaceful development of new conditions in the far east.

Consequently the Japanese mission here is eager to decide how best the United States and Japan can co-operate in developing both the power and resources of the far east for the common good.

England's Nomination Withdrawn.

The nomination of Brig. Gen. Lloyd England of the Arkansas National Guard, to be a brigadier general in the new National Army, was withdrawn yesterday. Members of the Senate military committee had also been informed that Gen. England's local duties required his presence in Arkansas.
